

Youssef's Hidden Hero Is His Brother

My hidden hero is my brother Mostafa who was born in Cairo, Egypt on February 25th, 1987. He's my oldest brother and he's an amazing artist. When he was a kid, he would always make a mess with paint on the walls. When Mostafa grew up and started school, he was the best artist in his class.

Later on, when me and my other brother Yassin were born, Mostafa showed us how to draw and encouraged us to do our best to learn different styles of art. This was important to me because my whole family are artists and I want to be one too. He made me an artist and now I am on my way to being as good as him.

I think Mostafa is admirable because he's very mature and loving. He shows these traits by taking care of me when my parents are away, also by teaching me different styles of art. This is why Mostafa is very important to me and someone to be admired.

Mostafa is my Hidden Hero because he has been really caring to me. Not many people know him, but not many other people are as special as him. Because of him, I am famous for my art at my school.
